Last month, the Fields Medal for Mathematics was awarded to a woman for the first time. Maryam Mirzakhani's Medal also marks the first time an Iranian has been awarded this prestigious award.

This news along with Rouhani's tweets of her picture with and without her headscarf created a lot of debate on Twitter. With the impeachment of Minister of Science, Technology and Research, news of the Minister Of Communications being threatened with impeachment for increasing Internet bandwidth and implementing 3G networks, will likely make rounds on Social Media in the next coming weeks. Also, the news of ISIS will likely, and unfortunately continue.
